Maryland Higher Education Enrollment Sets Another Record High

The following report highlights enrollment data submitted by the State's colleges and universities. Final numbers may vary slightly due to students enrolling or dropping out by November 15, the last date on which 2007 enrollment figures are reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission

- Total headcount enrollment at Maryland's colleges and universities rose by 1.8 percent from last year, an increase of 5,769 students. This year's total headcount of 325,570 students sets a new record high.
- During the past 20 years, total enrollment in Maryland has grown by 36 percent. For 11 straight years, total headcount enrollment has increased.
- Maryland community colleges experienced the most growth of any higher education sector, increasing their total enrollment by 2.6 percent (3,057 students) and accounting for over half (53 percent) of the growth statewide. Public four-year institutions increased their enrollment by 1.7 percent and, with 2,441 more students, accounted for 42 percent of the total growth statewide. Enrollments at the independent colleges and universities were virtually flat, rising by 271 students, or less than one percent overall, and amounting to 5 percent of the statewide headcount increase.

- Total enrollment for the University System of Maryland increased by 2,329 students (1.7 percent) to 137,648 this year. Total enrollment at Morgan State University decreased by 67 students, or 1 percent. Enrollment at St. Mary's College of Maryland increased by 45 students (2.3 percent).
- Full-time undergraduate enrollment increased statewide by 2.3 percent to a record high of 150,012 and was responsible for 60 percent of the statewide total growth. Full-time undergraduate enrollment increased in all sectors: community colleges (3.5 percent), public four-year institutions (2.1 percent) and independent institutions (1.3 percent). The number of full-time undergraduates has grown for 14 consecutive years, increasing by 39.4 percent during that time.

- While the part-time undergraduate headcount increased slightly from last year (0.4 percent), the increase was fueled entirely by the 1,520 part-time student increase at Maryland's community colleges. The number of part-time undergraduates declined at the University System of Maryland, Morgan State University, St. Mary's College of Maryland, and the independent colleges and universities.
- Statewide, the headcount of first-time, full-time undergraduates fell 2.2 percent, from 38,289 in fall 2006 to 37,429 in fall 2007. This is the first decline in the number of new full-time undergraduates at Maryland campuses since 1990 and is attributable to a drop of 16 percent in the number of these students at the independent colleges and universities. The number of first-time full-time undergraduates rose at the community colleges (0.6 percent) and public four-year institutions (2.3 percent).
- Full- and part-time graduate and professional enrollments set record highs. Full-time graduate and professional students rose by 5.7 percent to 25,208 and part-time students by 1.4 percent to 39,499.
- Fourteen of the 16 community colleges increased total headcount. Montgomery College increased by the most students: 973 for a 4.3 percent gain. The highest percentage increase occurred at Wor-Wic Community College (8.6 percent and 262 students). Total headcount dropped at two Baltimore-area colleges: Community College of Baltimore County (-0.1 percent) and Baltimore City Community College (-4.3 percent).
- Total enrollment increased at 10 of the 13 public four-year colleges and universities. University of Maryland College Park increased by the most students (912 or 2.6 percent), while University of Baltimore experienced the greatest percentage increase (9.4 percent or 467 students). University of Maryland University College reported the largest numerical drop: 556 or 1.7 percent. All of the decline at UMUC came in undergraduate students.
- Total headcount fell at 18 of the 30 independent colleges and universities. ITT Technical Institute experienced the greatest increase both in numerical and percentage terms among independent institutions, adding 425 students from the previous year and more than doubling their enrollment. The Johns Hopkins University, the State's largest independent institution, was essentially flat in terms of enrollment.
- Women continued to outnumber men at Maryland colleges and universities, representing 59.1 percent of all students. There were 3,336 more women students than last year compared to 2,433 for men.
